

National Builder Trade In™ ("BTIP") understands the importance of property, especially intellectual property ("IP"). BTIP does not tolerate the abuse of third parties' IP on BTIP's systems, websites owned by BTIP, and/or websites where BTIP operates the website infrastructure (each a "BTIP Site"). Our agreements with those that use and/or post content or material to KWRI Sites specifically prohibit the uploading, posting, emailing, or transmittal of content or material that infringes the IP of others. In order to enforce this policy and protect the IP of others, BTIP provides a process for submitting complaints that content or material posted on a BTIP Site is in violation of U.S. copyright law.

Pursuant to the Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998 (17 U.S.C. ? 512), the full text of which is available at <http://www.copyright.gov/title17/92chap5.html#512>, BTIP has implemented procedures for receiving notices of claimed copyright infringement ("Notices") and has designated an agent to receive those Notices. BTIP has also implemented procedures for submitting counter-notices should you receive a notice of copyright infringement you believe to be erroneous ("Counter-Notices"). Notices and Counter-Notices must be truthful and must be submitted under penalty of perjury. Submitting a false Notice or Counter-Notice could lead to personal liability. You may want to seek the advice of counsel prior to submitting a Notice or Counter-Notice.

BTIP reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to block or remove any objectionable content or material. Regardless of whether BTIP removes or blocks content or material, BTIP will make a good-faith effort to notify you if a copyright infringement complaint is made against you.
